Undefeated: Jim Thorpe And The Carlisle Indian School Football Team

Synopsis

When superstar athlete Jim Thorpe and football legend Pop Warner met in 1904 at the Carlisle Indian Industrial School in Pennsylvania, they forged one of the winningest teams in American football history. Called "the team that invented football", they took on the best opponents of their day, defeating much more privileged schools such as Harvard and Army in a series of breathtakingly close calls, genius plays, and bone-crushing hard work. But this is not just an underdog story. It's an unflinching look at the persecution of Native Americans and its intersection with the beginning of one of the most beloved - and exploitative - pastimes in America, expertly told by nonfiction powerhouse Steve Sheinkin.

Customer Reviews

Read it in two days. It's a page turner with amazing photos. Very well researched. Thank you for writing this eye-opening book.

was a gift for my grandson; he loved it

I knew a lot about Thorpe but little about Pop. Great info but sad what happened! It is all about taking care of yourself!

This is a poignant, admiring, admirable, very well-researched account of the great football teams of the fin-de-siecle. The cast of characters includes "Pop" Warner and Dwight Eisenhower. The book can satisfy both young adults and adults.

Great read, having been born & raised in Oklahoma all my life it's particularly interesting to know personally the of places of Thorpe's youth. An amazing individual who overcame great odds to become the greatest athlete in the 20th century.

Amazing book. I learned so much about history and Jim Thorpe. I loved it and don't even like football. I can't believe how much I learned!

Very pleased with our purchase.

Well documented story about Jim Thorpe. The author goes to great lengths to educate his audience on the impact of Indian schools as well as the early history of football to build context around the amazing story of Jim Thorpe.
