Great for the price! Love having a Bat Signal in my office!

Awesome. Fits in perfectly with 1/6 scale Hot Toys Batman figures. Bright light, heavy piece, worth the price.

These things are amazing! I bought 2 for my boys. They are an amazing addition to any kid's room. They are heavy! And they look so cool! I can't believe these are on sale for $15?!?! This is easily a $40 product!

This signal is made with pretty high quality, and the Batman logo cast on the wall looks pretty awesome. The book it comes with is pretty neat as well.

Super cool, quality is really good and light is really bright, awesome for a bedroom

Great collectible for the price!!!

Freaking awesome

My original review is below, but I've since heard from the manufacturer and they have resolved the issue with the battery cover screws. Apparently, the problem was discovered and corrected prior to the lamps shipping, but my unit didn't receive the fix for some reason. I'm happy to take them at their word and upgrade my 2 star rating as this really is a great little collectible. This is really a great looking little lamp and very well made too... with one big exception. The battery cover is accessed by removing 4 little jeweler's screws on the diecast rear of the light and those screws thread through 4 little nuts on the back of the plastic battery compartment beneath. The problem is 2 out of 4 of the screws on mine spun freely because the nuts had rounded out their plastic fittings before I even attempted to loosen them. I'm guessing the factory assembly torqued the screws far too hard... which meant I couldn't get the battery cover off. After 30 minutes of prying, pulling, and patience I finally got it loose... spinning one of the nuts all the way through the plastic in the process. It still works, albeit short of two fastening screws, but what an incredibly frustrating experience. I love everything else about it... it's a fantastic little collectible and the accompanying book is very well done as well. I would have called this a bargain at under $20, but it's really too bad their manufacturing quality control isn't on par with all the design work that went into this.
